JUST SUPPOSING

Vir. The theme of mighty fiction
Is Life's correct depiction-
But that has been attained by such a few!
Tom: Too true!
You'll always be a duffer
Unless you live and suffer -
Vir. I thought that's what my readers had to do.
Tom: Too true!
Take making love- supposing we should try it.
Vir. No harm when we are meaning nothing by it.

Refrain:

Tom. Just supposing that I loved you -
Vir. And supposing that I loved you -
Tom. Without a reprimand
I'd hold your hand -
Vir. What very nice supposing you can do!
Tom. Then supposing I held you near-
Vir. Oh, the thrill of your arms enclosing!
Tom. Quite lovingly we'd kiss
Like this: (They kiss) And this: (They kiss)
Vir. But let's not forget we're just supposing!

Second Refrain:

Tom: Just supposing that I wed you -
Vir. Yes, supposing that I wed you -
Tom. We'd lead a happy life
As man and wife-
Vir. That sounds a bit too lovely to be true!
Tom: But supposing I stayed out nights
And came home when the town was dozing-
Vir. I'd let you have a pat
Like that: (Slaps him) And that: (Slaps him)
Tom. Say! Let's not forget we're just supposing!
